THE CHALLENGE

The project required site furnishings and infrastructure that could withstand Seattle's marine environment, support high foot traffic, and contribute to stormwater management and sustainability goals.

- Exposure to harsh saltwater conditions
- High pedestrian volumes year-round
- Stormwater management & drainage
- Durable, low-maintenance materials
- Aesthetic integration with waterfront design

OUR SOLUTION

Please Plant delivered a fully integrated system of site furnishings and stormwater solutions engineered for performance, sustainability, and design flexibility.

- Marine-grade finishes and materials
- AquaVoid drainage platforms for subsurface water management
- Permeable pavers to reduce runoff
- Coordinated product palette for seamless design
- Long-life products with minimal maintenance
